Reasons For Allowance

1. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:
2. Regarding claim 1, the prior art fail to teach or fairly suggest the limitations cited wherein:
 - connecting said first and second heat exchanger blocks to one another by means of a U-shaped sheet having a base and two sides whereby the base of the U-shaped sheet connects together the first sides of the two heat exchanger blocks, to which said headers are mounted in such a way as to produce a continuous plane and connecting said orifices of said mutually confronting sides via a connection piece introduced between the two headers whereby a flow connection is provided between the two headers.
3. Regarding claim 21, the prior art fail to teach or fairly suggest the limitations cited wherein:
 - connecting said first and second heat exchanger blocks to one another by means of a U-shaped sheet having a base and two sides whereby the base of the U-shaped sheet connects together the first sides of the two heat exchanger blocks, to which said headers are mounted, in such a way as to produce a continuous plane, and connecting the mutually confronting sides of said two first headers via a connection piece introduced between the two headers whereby the side of the connection piece which faces the heat exchanger blocks is completely covered by the first side of each heat exchanger block on which their respective headers are mounted and the base of U-shaped sheet such that said connection piece provides a flow connection occurs between the two headers.

4. Regarding claim 23, the prior art fail to teach or fairly suggest the limitations cited wherein:

- connecting said orifices of said mutually confronting sides via a connection piece introduced between the two headers whereby said connection piece, said sheet connecting said first and second heat exchanger blocks, and said two first headers form a continuous header which extends over said first and second heat exchanger blocks.

5. Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
